Hand Pack - This method can be used to create a complete sculpture, but it is typically used to add smaller objects to one of the other compaction methods. One of the best way to do a 'hand pack' is to half fill a bucket with water and then add sand until the bucket is just about full. Reach into the bucket with both hands and grab a lump of "saturated sand" and quickly place it where you want it.

"Come in dear, come in. Take a seat." Said Mrs. Furtum, the portly and elderly owner, opening the door the candle shop. I held a flier in my hand, one that had found stapled to a telephone pole three blocks from the shop, with a red HELP WANTED written by hand on it with large block letters, and a burning candle flame underneath. It'd been four months since I'd been laid off from my position as ...
