Local Flaps In Head And

The terms free flap, free autologous tissue transfer and microvascular free tissue transfer are synonymous terms used to describe the "transplantation" of tissue from one site of the body to another, in order to reconstruct an existing defect. "Free" implies that the tissue is completely detached from its blood supply at the original location ("donor site") and then transferred to another ...

Free flap - Wikipedia

A tissue flap is defined by a persistent blood supply and does not depend on the recipient bed to perfuse the donor tissue (unlike unvascularized skin grafts). With modern techniques, an almost endless array of flaps is available to choose from to provide coverage for even the most complex defects ...

A local anesthetic (LA) is a medication that causes absence of pain sensation. When it is used on specific nerve pathways (local anesthetic nerve block), paralysis (loss of muscle power) also can be achieved. Clinical LAs belong to one of two classes: aminoamide and aminoester local anesthetics. Synthetic LAs are structurally related to cocaine. They differ from cocaine mainly in that they have ...
