

Roman Imperialism And Local Identities

Roman Imperialism And Local Identities

Revell questions both "What is Roman?" and "What is local?", taking the responsible approach that there was no monolithic "Roman" or "British" or "Gallic" identity. Instead, she explores the manifestation of Roman and local identity at various sites, and provides the necessary qualifications in her interpretation.

Roman Imperialism and Local Identities - ResearchGate

Revell examines questions of Roman ethnic identity and explores Roman imperialism as a lived experience based around the paradox of similarity and difference. Her case studies of public architecture provide an understanding of how urbanism, the emperor and religion were part of the daily encounters of these communities. Revell applies the ideas of agency and practice in her examination of the ...
